What is Personal Information?

Personal information includes any information or opinion about an identified individual or an individual who can be reasonably identified from this information. This could include your name, address, date of birth and contact details. During the life of your product or service, we may collect and hold additional personal information about you which may include transaction information and a record of any complaints or queries made by you.

How and why we collect and use your information?

Generally, we collect personal information which is necessary to provide you with a specific service and you have consented to that collection from you directly.

The main reason we collect, use, hold, store and manage the personal information that we collect about you, is to provide you with services. This includes:

- Giving you information about a service;
- Checking that we can provide the service to you;
- Helping you where online enquiry are not completed;
- Registration and administration of your account;
- Providing you with a service; and
- Helping you manage the service;
- Updating our records about you;
- Responding to and processing your queries and requests;
- Satisfying our legal obligations

We may also use your information to comply with legislative or regulatory requirements in any jurisdiction to prevent fraud, crime or other activity that may cause harm in relation to our services and to help us run our business. We may also use your information to tell you about services we think may interest you.

We collect most personal information directly from you, for example when you register with us, apply for or use a service or talk to us on the telephone. We also collect information electronically such as when you visit our website or apply for or access Dade Forex Pty Ltd services electronically.

Sometimes we collect personal information about you from other people or organizations and this may occur without your direct involvement. For example, we may collect information about you from publicly available sources of information, such as public registers, or other organizations which jointly with us, provide services to you or commercial information service providers.

We will collect details of transactions you carry out through our website and of the fulfillment of such transactions. Personal information is only collected directly from you, except where another person has been authorized to act on your behalf (such as your legal or financial advisers) or consent has been provided.
